COMMUNITY PROFILE & RELOCATION GUIDE

Welcome to Durango

DURANGO

Nestled in Southwestern Colorado, Durango is ideal for getting away from the major cities, while still able to access the necessities. Durango is situated near the "Four Corners," the only spot in the United States where four states meet. The city of Durango is easily accessible by several highways and is not restricted by mountain passes to the west, south, and east. Durango is surrounded by the San Juan National Forest, which creates a backyard of more than 2 million acres of pine forests, aspen groves, lakes, streams, and spectacular views. The city itself takes up 4.37 square miles, while La Plata County is spread across 1700 square miles.

The Geography

Located at 6,512 feet, Durango, Colorado, captures the best of the Rockies. The rugged and picturesque San Juan and La Plata Mountains form a breathtaking contrast to the crystal clear blue sky. The air is clean and fresh, as are the rivers - Animas, Florida, La Plata, and Los Piños - that have cut through the canyons and carved valleys in the vast mesas. Though the region enjoys plentiful snowfall, which blankets the ski slopes of Purgatory, the sun truly does shine nearly 300 days a year.

Average Annual Precipitation: 19.1 inches
Average Snowfall: 79 inches
Mean Freeze Free Period: 99 days
Elevation Above Sea Level: 6,512 feet
Solar Index: 85% of the time in sunshine

The Climate

La Plata County's climate is considered ideal thanks to moderate temperatures and beautiful seasons. In summer, temperatures seldom climb above the high eighties and spring is characterized by afternoon showers, which bathe the land and stimulate verdant growth. Fall brings the promise of "Indian Summer" and clear, dry, cool days - perfect for enjoying the outdoors. Winters are generally mild, sunny and dry with seldom a day of temperatures even close to zero.

Life in La Plata County

Though set far from the bright lights of the big city, La Plata County enjoys contemporary amenities and a rich cultural history, as well as the cohesiveness and caring spirit traditional in rural communities.

The county is considered "tri-ethnic," embracing Native American, Latino and Anglo cultures. With Southern Ute Tribal lands stretching across a portion of the county, residents and visitors have the opportunity to participate in annual celebrations and festivals.

With names such as Rio de las Animas, Escalante Crossing and Santa Rita Park, the region's Hispanic heritage is well-documented, and the culture is celebrated with the arts and during annual festivals such as Fiesta Days and Cinco de Mayo. Fort Lewis College lends a spirit of progressiveness and youth to the fabric of the region, as student involvement and enthusiasm is woven throughout the community. On campus, the growing arts facilities host the acoustically perfect Community Concert Hall, the world renowned Center for Southwest Studies and the Arts Center, which showcases local as well as national artists.

From locally roasted coffee beans and award-winning hand-crafted beer, to gourmet foods and farm-fresh produce, cheeses and meats, great food is a given in La Plata County. Unique dining establishments rival those of the big city. In season, the bustling farmers market is not only a source for fresh, natural and organic foods, but a community reunion as well.

Durango's historic downtown offers a "locals" experience to visitors, with independent retailers creating unique shopping and social opportunities. Durango embraces a growing arts community, showcasing the fine artists and photographers who have captured the essence of the region in their mediums.

Music festivals of all types offer something for nearly everyone; from Music in the Mountains to the grassroots Bluegrass Meltdown, the hills are indeed alive with the sounds of music.

Athletic endeavors are a natural part of the lifestyle, including downhill skiing and boarding activities at Purgatory, and the event that launched Durango's reputation as a cycling mecca: The Iron Horse Bicycle Classic.

The Snowdown winter festivities, Durango Independent Film Festival, and even Bayfield's Sheep Festival are just a sampling of the activities that add sparks to life in La Plata County.

Population

La Plata County has experienced steady population growth. In recent decades, much of the growth has occurred in the unincorporated areas of the county, though effort is now being made to retain "open space."

Actual population growth has varied since the turn of the last century, tied primarily to the region's economies of mining and oil & gas production. Since the early 1960's, however, the growth of tourism and other non-seasonal industries has prompted stabilized growth.

Between 2000 and 2010, La Plata County averaged 1.24% annual growth. Durango proper grew an average of 1.44%, with Bayfield experiencing a 6.88% growth. Ignacio's population has declined slightly, but with the economic strength of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe and increased enterprises, a return to growth is likely.

City Government

Designated a "Home Rule City," Durango adopted its most recent charter in 1978 - an update of the original city charter and vision for Durango adopted in 1912. The 1978 charter was revised to encourage involvement from the citizenry, the authors adhering to the philosophy that when citizens actively participate in government, protection of the public interest is best insured.

Map of Durango

Durango T or Local Transit Service runs buses and historic-style trolleys on scheduled and by-request routes. The trolleys run every 20 minutes along Main Avenue.

Contact Durango Transit for schedules or more information: (970) 259-5438, or visit www.durangogov.org.

The Intermodal Transit Center located at 250 W. 8th Street is a regional hub for public transportation including Durango Transit, Ignacio Road Runner and Purgatory. Passenger amenities include: restrooms, information counters, passenger concourse, covered parking for bicycles and City Transit Offices.

Public Transportation

The city of Durango offers a variety of options for public transportation through Durango Transit – or the "T" – which operates a variety of small buses and trolleys within the Durango municipal limits, including service to Downtown, Fort Lewis College, Mercy Regional Medical Center, west, and south Durango, and all buses are equipped with bike racks. The city also operates an on-demand transportation service for the elderly and disabled and offers a trolley service available along Main Avenue.

Road Runner Transit is a service of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe, operated by the Southern Ute Community Action Program, and based in Ignacio. Currently, there are 3 daily round-trips from Ignacio and Bayfield to Durango and Ignacio to Aztec. For additional information call (970) 563-4545 or visit www.sucap.org. Road Runner Transportation now operates Road Runner Stage Lines which offers daily service from Durango to Grand Junction and can offer connections nationwide via Greyhound Lines, Inc. Please see the website at www.roadrunnerstagelines.com or call (970) 553-0389 for information and tickets.

Car Rental & Taxi Service

Car rental services provided by Avis, Enterprise, Hertz, Budget and National are available at the Durango/La Plata County Airport.

Animas Transportation & Durango Taxi provide an airport shuttle as well as 24-hour taxi service.

Trucking & Delivery Service

Durango is served by motor carriers and delivery services from all geographic areas in the United States. Major markets in the Southwest and West coast areas enjoy closer, more convenient transport from Durango than from Denver and more amenable winter weather. Atlas Van Lines, RAC Transport, Airborne Express, UPS, FedEx and Kangaroo Express all have local offices.

Air Service

The Durango/La Plata County airport, located 15 miles southeast of the City of Durango and accessed via State Hwy 172, is a publicly-owned commercial service and general aviation facility, operated jointly by the City of Durango and La Plata County. The 9,200 foot primary runway is lit and equipped with navigational aids, and can handle the majority of commercial-sized aircraft. Currently, United Express offers non-stop service to Denver. American Airlines offers a non-stop flight to Dallas/Fort Worth and Phoenix. Business and recreational travelers also enjoy private aircraft and charter service at Durango/La Plata with on-site, fixed-based operators. For additional information, visit www.flydurango.com.

Education, Schools & Colleges

Durango is home to FORT LEWIS COLLEGE, a selective four-year public liberal arts institution of almost 3,500 students, which offers 102 degree programs in the schools of Arts & Sciences, Education, and Business Administration. In addition to its educational mission, Fort Lewis College offers a wealth of service programs for the region, from Continuing Education Classes to business consultation to support for the arts and other organizations. FLC academics and NCAA Division II sports boast national and conference championships.

PUEBLO COMMUNITY COLLEGE SOUTHWEST, is a fully-accredited two-year college that provides open door admission. The philosophy of the college is that all who feel they have the ability to benefit and the motivation to succeed should have access to higher education. This access is further enhanced through affordable tuition and fees.

The DURANGO ADULT EDUCATION CENTER is a private, non-profit organization that has been dedicated to providing educational resources for adults, seniors and youth in Durango for 27 years. Through fundraising, grants and partnerships with other organizations, the Adult Education Center is able to provide affordable education services to the community.

DURANGO SCHOOL DISTRICT 9-R is Southwest Colorado's largest school district with more than 4,500 students enrolled. The district offers a comprehensive, standards-based curriculum guided by the Board of Education's Ends Policies. Because the board's Ends policies reflect community values, district academic standards exceed standards mandated by the State of Colorado. The Colorado Department of Education recently identified Durango's elementary reading program as one of the best in the state.

BAYFIELD SCHOOL DISTRICT 10-JTR consists of one high school, one middle school and one elementary school with approximately 1,186 students. Bayfield School District has schools of excellence with a faculty that prides itself on hard work and relationships.

IGNACIO SCHOOL DISTRICT 11-JT consists of one high school, one junior high, one intermediate, and one elementary school with approximately 1,054 students. As a community partner, the Ignacio School District provides an engaging education for all students in a safe, positive and respectful environment.

Parks & Recreation

The City of Durango offers residents an ambitious and comprehensive recreation program with activities for every age group. More than 100 different programs are offered, ranging from alpine skiing to arts and crafts.

The Parks and Recreation Department operates the Durango Community Recreation Center (970) 375-7300, Chapman Hill ski area and its ice and roller skating rink. It also offers outdoor activities at the Fort Lewis Recreational Complex, operates the Senior Center and the Mason Center.

The city has 32 parks spread over more than 193 acres of developed park land. Most of the parks feature picnic facilities, playgrounds, skateboard facility, fishing areas, bicycle and foot trails, and open space. Several parks sit along the Animas River, including Whitewater Park, a popular area for kayak racing events known for its nation-wide competitions.

Durango is also known as a road and mountain biking Mecca. It is the home of the annual Iron Horse Bicycle Classic, site of the 1990 World Mountain Bike Championships, the 2001 World Cup and the 2012 USA Pro Cycling Challenge.

Winter brings other outdoor activities from skiing and snowshoeing to snowmobiling. The region's reputation for hiking and fly fishing has expanded to a year-round activity. For more information contact Durango Mountain Resort at (970) 247-9000, or the San Juan Mountains Association at (970) 385-1312.

The art, music, and theater scene embraces dozens of galleries and community supported arts. For more information on upcoming performances at the Community Concert Hall at Fort Lewis College, visit www.durangoconcerts.com. For more information regarding the local art community, contact the Durango Arts Center at (970) 259-2606 or visit www.durangoarts.org.

About the Durango Chamber of Commerce

The Durango Chamber of Commerce is a member based organization that promotes and supports the local business community. With more than 800 members, the Durango Chamber of Commerce acts as a resource of information for its members, the community, and relocation inquirers. It communicates business related issues and advocates on the behalf of its members. The chamber operates networking and educational programs all for the sake of building a stronger community and a greater quality of life.

Leadership La Plata

Leadership La Plata is the leadership skills and broad based community education arm of the Durango Chamber of Commerce. Each year, 18 diverse, civic minded and active community members from throughout the county are selected to participate in this influential program.

Durango Area Diplomats

The Durango Area Diplomats are the goodwill ambassadors for the Chamber of Commerce and the Durango community as a whole.

The Diplomats provide a volunteer base for the community, assist with ribbon cuttings to celebrate grand openings and other special events throughout the year.

YPODS

(Young Professionals of Durango)

The Young Professionals of Durango is the newest program of the Durango Chamber of Commerce and its goal is to target young professionals (ages 21-39) in the early stages of their career and offer them professional and social connections within the community as well as a forum for them to voice their opinions.

MEET OUR LOCAL CHARACTERS!

"Buck" is our main advocate at reminding residents to look local first! Moolah is a teller at one of our local banks & Penny is grateful to enjoy the local parks & amenities La Plata County has to offer because of the residents who LOOK LOCAL FIRST!
