From the Executive Director's pen . . .

Back to the future... Jack Llewellyn, Chamber Director

Happy New Year to everyone, and with the New Year comes a big change for your Chamber of Commerce. We are settling in at our stunning, new building in the North Main District. Remember, THE North Main District, as all the business partners, city and community partners continue our efforts to create the variety of "Character Districts" around the town. Beyond Historic Downtown, the North Main District is the first to take hold, and your Chamber is proud to be a part of it.

But I digress...

We're still living among a few boxes, but we're getting there. I want to give a big shout-out to Tracy Reynolds and Elizabeth Boone of Reynolds Ash & Associates, as well as Frank Enea with Classique Builders. They made the design and construction painless, creating an energy efficient and functional AND beautiful building that came together on schedule and within budget.

Special thanks also goes out to Bank of Colorado, which not only housed your Chamber temporarily in the bank's downtown building, but also stepped up as our lead Legacy donor. TBK Bank and Alpine Bank also contributed at the Legacy levels making the chamber building possible.

Through this whole process, so many people and businesses have contributed – and there are way too many to thank here. The full list is on our website and will be featured prominently on the donor wall in our new conference room.

Over the last year and a half, you might have heard me say, the chamber is headed "Back to the future"? Here's a bit of Durango history trivia... Remember the little A-frame building here in Brookside Park? Well, that was the home of your Durango Chamber for more than 25 years before we moved to the "new" facility in Santa Rita Park in 1985. Now it feels as though we've come home.

Join us on January 24 for the official Open House and Ribbon Cutting, Noon-5 p.m.

And while I'm in the celebratory mode, remember Durango Rocks! – The Academy Awards of Durango – on January 17 at the Community Concert Hall at Fort Lewis College. Details are in this newsletter, but let me share a little behind-the-scenes info about the honoree selections.

First of all, I personally have nothing to do with the selection of the honorees each year. I am "Switzerland." You can torture me as much as you'd like, but I don't know who the recipients are until we start putting the show together.

Nominations in all categories are accepted throughout the year. You don't need to wait for the last minute to nominate a deserving business or individual. We log everything and keep it safe, and follow up with you with any questions.

The committee is independent, and they review all nominations in each category, ranking them first, second or third in a "secret ballot" with each getting three, two or one points, respectively. These votes are tallied by someone you know, love and she's really stellar at keeping secrets. Her tallying is observed by a member of the committee, and that observer is rotated.

We have such a giving community, and that's the theme we see woven through all nominations – giving back and paying it forward. All those nominated are revered. Join us for Durango Rocks! for our celebration of community. Happy New Year everyone and stop by the new Chamber building when you're out and about, 2301 North Main.

8 Great Apps For Busy Store Owners

We all need tools in our retail toolbox that make our work easier and faster and make our life better. These 9 apps do just that!

Employee Scheduling Apps

If you're not using an online scheduling app, you're wasting time and making the process harder on yourself and your team. Try one of these great options...

When I Work - This scheduling app includes up to 75 employees for FREE and gives your people the option to swap schedules with each other. No longer is the burden on you to arrange the switch!

Humanity - This scheduling software is powerful enough for huge companies, but easy enough for independent stores, too. It includes features like time and attendance tracking and employee messaging.

Productivity Apps

These apps will help you keep track of what you have to do and get more of it completed. Sounds like heaven? No, just technology!

If This Then That - Set up rules to automate and simplify your life, like...

If I post an image on Pinterest, then also share it on Twitter. If tomorrow's forecast calls for rain, then send me an email. If a specific person emails me, then send me a text message.

Slack - Slack lets your team communicate, plan, brainstorm, track, and simplify their work together. No more losing emails or having half a conversation via text, and half on Facebook. Slack is one place for it all your work communication.

Wunderlist - The to-do list app that is well, "wonderful!" Create and assign lists, set reminders, and track progress. This one really helps keep you organized!

Way Of Life - Whether it's personal (floss every day) or professional (catch employees doing something right) creating new habits is hard. This app helps you track your wins and gives you rewards as you build better habits.

Video Editing Apps

Video is THE #1 WAY to get and keep attention online. These apps make it easy to create cool videos – even if all you have is still photos.

Ripl - Ripl makes awesome animated videos from your photos that look great and attract attention on your social media platforms or on your website. Add music, text, or other images for maximum impact.

Animoto - Combine photos, video clips, music and text to create great video slide shows. Pre-built templates make it easy and give you great, pro-looking results.

BUSINESS CONNECTION

Cruise Planners - Laura Clutinger

written by Sara Lynn (Kuntz) Valentine

Laura and Tom Clutinger moved to Durango eight and a half years ago from San Diego. Tom's family had relocated to Durango and when Laura and Tom visited them, they fell in love with Durango. When the Clutingers lost their jobs in San Diego due to layoffs, the time seemed right for a move. "My background was in sales," Laura says. "I had worked for an international company that organized extended education seminars. I took care of the hotel reservations and booked the rooms for the seminars. I traveled all over the world taking care of the logistics. After that I was a trade show coordinator for a spa and salon manufacturer, where I coordinated the travel arrangements to over 25 shows a year, for a team of up to fifteen people."

Once in Durango, Laura began working for a national bank. However, it had long been her dream to follow her passion of travel planning for individuals and businesses, with the freedom to work from home - or from anywhere around the world. Her professional experiences and personal strengths, along with her love of travel, gave her confidence that she could build a new and more independent career by customizing travel arrangements for other travelers. Laura bought a franchise from Cruise Planners, a full-service travel agency that specializes in both land and cruise travel, as well as full package travel, to destinations around the world. She worked at it part-time until October 2018, when she decided to go full-time.

"We love to travel and enjoy making travel plans. However, planning for a wonderful trip can be complicated and takes time to figure out all the little details that make such a big difference. It typically takes several hours to research itineraries, accommodations, tours and activities, all within a given budget. I've found that many people just don't have the time or desire to do the research. That's where I can help. I do the work for my clients, based on their wants, needs, time, and budget. I love building relationships with my clients, so I can truly understand what's most important to them. I want to help them make choices that will make their travel easier and more enjoyable, while maximizing value and staying within their budgets. I'm happy to share my travel experience to help my clients avoid problems that can quickly derail a trip.

"Best of all, I don't charge any fees for my services, as I'm paid directly by the travel vendors. This is often a revelation for the traveler, who mistakenly thinks they can't afford to hire a travel advisor. As a franchise owner of Cruise Planners, I have extensive resources that are not available to the average person. Many people think they'll get the best deal booking on their own - however, advisors have access to significant discounts and packaged deals not available to non-professionals. Additionally, I'm a resource for my clients during a trip if something goes wrong. For example, if an airline cancels a flight and the traveler booked through a 3rd party company, they may not get support for another flight and could be left scrambling to figure things out on their own. Instead, my clients can simply call me and I will jump in to get things back on track as quickly as possible.

"Planning for clients ranges from destination weddings and honeymoons, to corporate retreats, family reunions, anniversaries, or the 'dream vacation.' I specialize in romance, adventure and special interest travel, such as food & wine, art or history. This is a happy business where people get excited about their travel plans, especially when they don't have to deal with the details!

"I got involved with the Durango Chamber because I know how important the networking opportunities the Chamber provides are. I am super impressed with the Durango Chamber - they offer so much! I go to Coffee at Carvers on Tuesdays. I also like to go to the monthly Business After Hours event. The member portal is fantastic. The Chamber offers huge support and really gets your business out there!"

Cruise Planners has a reputation for quality, service, and very competitive pricing for all travel needs. You can reach Laura at 970.422.5291 or via her email, laura.clutinger@cruiseplanners.com.
